Is ours the 'golden age' of museum design?

Calatrava's Milwaukee Art Museum (above), Wright's Guggenheim Museum, Piano's Menil Collection, Taniguchi's MoMA, Williams'/ Tsien's American Folk Art Museum, Moneo's Museum of Fine Arts in Houston, and Hadid's Contemporary Art Center in Cincinnati are the projects examined this month in the BSA Lecture Series at the Boston Public Library.

At this April 19 edition of the lecture series, author/editor Scott Tilden leads us on an examination of what he characterizes as the golden age of art museum design. Tilden is the author/editor of books on Daniel Burnham, on the design of American synagogues and, most recently, of Architecture for Art: American Art Museums, 1938–2008; he comes to Boston after a series of lectures on contemporary museum design at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Dallas Museum of Art, the Denver Art Museum, and the Seattle Art Museum.

Tilden's presentation on April 19 begins at 6:00 pm in the BPL's Rabb Lecture Hall in Copley Square. There is no charge and all — members and nonmembers — are welcome.

Residential Design 2006 is now

The BSA's 2006 Residential Design Convention and Tradeshow is April 5–6 at the Seaport World Trade Center in Boston. If you missed all the early publicity and discount registration deadline and the e-mail and regular mail messages, even now it is not too late to join about 8,000 of your residential design and construction colleagues at the Seaport World Trade Center. You can register on site to inspect over 250 exhibits of residential products and services and sign up for one of the 60+ workshops and other professional-development opportunities. For more information, visit buildbostonresidential.com.

Codes workshops begin now

The BSA's annual series of building code workshops begins this month with 8:00–10:00 am sessions on:

- ▲ April 10: Building Code Essentials/Part 1
- ▲ April 24: Building Code Essentials/Part 2
- ▲ May 8: Code Requirements for Existing Buildings
- ▲ May 22: Energy Conservation Requirements
- ▲ June 5: Accessibility
- ▲ June 19: Introduction to Zoning
- ▲ June 29: The International Building Code (a special day-long workshop)

Sponsored by the BSA Codes Committee, each workshop is led by BSA Codes Committee chair Vernon Woodworth AIA and his colleagues at the Sullivan Code Group. The final day-long session on the International Building Code also is led by code expert Jerry Tepe FAIA.

The fee for each session is $65 ($40 for BSA members); the fee for the special June 29 session is $110 ($75 for BSA members). Registration details are online at architects.org/workshops. All reservations must reach the BSA by 9:30 am on the Wednesday immediately prior to each workshop; for the June 29 day-long session, reservations must be received by 9:30 am on June 26.

Cutting-edge learning theory shapes campus design

At 8:30 am on April 18, members and allies of the BSA/SCUP College and University Roundtable gather at the Stata Center at MIT for a special session on the ways in which cutting-edge theories about how people learn shapes architectural design. The discussion is led by Art Lidsky of Dober, Lidsky, Craig and Associates of Belmont.

This gathering, as with all of our regular gatherings, is open to all members and nonmembers. Reservations are required for everyone who wishes to attend; to reserve your seat, download, complete and return the '2006 Reservation Form' at architects.org/reservations. There is no charge for BSA and SCUP members; allies who are not yet members of either organization are welcome and pay $10 in advance ($20 at the door). Advance reservations must be received by the BSA no later than noon, April 17.

BSA/SCUP Roundtable*

Michael Boucher begins the 'conversation'

In "Conversations on Architecture", the annual series of monthly design explorations conceived and hosted by Brian Healy AIA, Boston's leading young architects, landscape architects, planners, designers and educators gather monthly at the BSA to explore the current state of architecture. The format is informal conversation sparked by a brief presentation by each month's guest provocateur.

The series, which began two years ago, has included presentations by some of our region's most talented professionals and is a terrific and always provocative forum for lively discussion, critiques, and knowledge-sharing.

Our guest provocateur this month on April 4 is landscape architect Michael Boucher ASLA, principal of Michael Boucher Landscape Architecture with offices in southern Maine, Cambridge, and Seattle. Boucher begins this month's 'conversation' by drawing on his extensive experience working cooperatively on teams led by Modernist architects.

Reservations are required for each of these 7:00–9:00 pm gatherings. All members and nonmembers are welcome; the $15 fee ($10 for BSA members and $5 for full-time design students) covers the cost of ample food and drink. Each monthly gathering is limited to 60 on a first-come/first-served basis; reserve your seat now by downloading, completing and returning the '2006 Registration Form' at architects.org/reservations. Reservations for this April 4 program must reach the BSA no later than 9:30 am, April 3.

*Sheila Kennedy AIA, Design Commissioner
BSA Board of Directors*

Ed. note: This series has included presentations by Preston Scott Cohen, urban planner Ken Greenberg, Rodolfo Machado, Assoc. AIA and Jorge Silvetti, Assoc. AIA, Sheila Kennedy AIA and Frano Violich AIA, John Fernandez AIA, Sarah Whiting and Ron Witte, Jonathan Levi FAIA, Nader Tebrani, Maryann Thompson AIA and landscape architects Doug Reed FASLA and Gary Hilderbrand FASLA, Tim Love AIA, Ted Szostkowski AIA, Alex Anmahian AIA and Nick Winton AIA, Bill Rawn FAIA, Meejin Yoon, Peter Rose AIA, Chris Reed ASLA, Mark Goulthorpe, Ed Mitchell AIA, Brian Healy AIA, MIT's Yung Ho Chang, and Andrea Leers FAIA and Jane Weinzaepfel FAIA.

Construction and real-estate issues are focus of workshops

The new professional-development/continuing-education collaboration between the BSA and Lorman Education Services, a national provider of professional-development opportunities, continues with these all-day workshops open to all members and nonmembers:

- ▲ "The Fundamentals of Construction Contracts" on April 6 in Springfield
- ▲ "Negotiating Complex Real-Estate Transactions in Massachusetts" on April 20 in Boston
- ▲ "Tax-Exempt Organizations in Massachusetts" on April 25 in Boston
- ▲ "The Fundamentals of Construction Contracts: Understanding the Issues in Massachusetts" on May 3 in Boston
- ▲ "Advanced Construction Management: Design/Build" on May 9 in Peabody

For workshop details and to register for any of these workshops, see the hardcopy brochures mailed to BSA members and friends recently or visit lorman.com or call 866-352-9539 (in all cases, be sure to cite this BSA priority code — 16903 — to enjoy the BSA registration fee discount available to all members and nonmembers). For more information on this BSA/Lorman collaboration, call Richard Fitzgerald at the BSA (617-951-1433x232).

Energy sources in healthcare facilities explored

"The First Healthcare Facility Utility Systems Conference" is an event in Leominster on April 10 sponsored by Burton Klein Associates and co-sponsored by the BSA.

This is a day-long forum at which state agencies in Massachusetts — including the Board of Building Regulations and Standards, the Office of the State Fire Marshal, the Department of Environmental Protection, and the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority — explain regulatory developments concerning the safe use and waste-management of a variety of energy sources including electricity, water and gas used to treat patients in healthcare facilities. For registration and other details, call Burton Klein at 617-916-1827.

Building science workshop series tours the state

Beginning this month on April 4, a year-long series of building science workshops is hosted in a variety of Massachusetts communities by members of the BSA Building Enclosure Council.

Conceived and designed by the Council — a BSA network of architects, engineers, contractors, building scientists and allied professionals, the series is intended to provide design and construction professionals, especially young professionals, with the critical introduction to building science issues often missing from the education and training most of us receive.

The series includes three consecutive workshops beginning with an introduction to building science and heat, air, and moisture transfer through building enclosures led by Vince Cammalleri AIA of Simpson Gumpertz & Heger. The second session focuses on management of water intrusion in building enclosures and led by Henry Heywood of The Thompson & Lichtner Company. The final session in each of the three-part courses is on specifications for the exterior enclosure led by Mark Kalin FAIA, FCSI of Kalin Associates.

For a full schedule of these three-part courses touring eastern Massachusetts, visit architects.org/buildingscience or write/call the BSA at bsa@architects.org/617-951-1433x221.

VectorWorks 12 is the focus

On April 5, the BSA's VectorWorks Users Group moves its regular monthly meeting from the BSA to the Wentworth Institute of Technology... and the meeting will be at 6:00 pm instead of the usual 8:30 am time.

The group, which will gather at 555 Parker Street in Wentworth's Annex Auditorium, will be exploring features of the recently released VectorWorks 12, which will be described by representatives of Nemetschek North America.

All members and nonmembers and anyone else interested in this software are welcome to join us; there is no charge for this or any of our monthly meetings. Free parking will be available for this April meeting and the Green line to the Museum station or the Orange line to Ruggles will get you there as well.

For more information, e-mail me at arch4angels@earthlink.net.

New members and new architects are celebrated

On April 13, BSA president Jane Weinzapfel FAIA hosts the BSA annual reception for new BSA members and for all architecture professionals — members and nonmembers, who have earned their architectural licenses recently.

There is no charge for this event but reservations are required so we order enough wine and shrimp.

To let us know you're coming, write/call the BSA at bsa@architects.org/617-951-1433x221.

Women explore the basics of networking

The BSA's Women in Design Network gathers on April 26 for one of its special evening "conversations" in which we explore the basics of how to 'work a room' and expand your professional circle. We consider some easy conversation starters, ways to (politely) escape someone who corners you at a party, and share other pointers about this often-mentioned and often-mysterious thing we call 'networking'.

These monthly conversations begin at 6:00 pm in The Architects Building (52 Broad St., Boston). The charge for these Women in Design Network events is $15 ($10 for BSA members and $5 for full-time students) and reservations are required so we order enough beer/wine and pizza. To reserve your seat — and all members and nonmembers are welcome — complete and return the '2006 Registration Form' at architects.org/reservations.

Tour programs

The Women in Design Network also has planned two tours in this month and next. On April 13, we tour A.J. Martini, Inc.'s new offices in Winchester. Designed by CBT, the project has earned a LEED Silver rating and we will be exploring this 'green' design.

On May 10, we visit Brown Rudnick's CBT-designed offices in Boston's One Financial Center. The focus of the tour of this 125,000-sf project is the use of the firm's art collection in this interior-design project.

All members and friends are welcome and reservations are required for these 5:45 pm tours. The fee is $15 ($10 for BSA members) and reservations should reach the BSA by noon on the day prior to the event; see architects.org/reservations.

For more information on either of these tours, write Kitty Li at kitty.li@likgroup.com.

Mark your practice calendar for May 9

Every architect in Massachusetts is urged to reserve May 9, 12:30–3:00 pm, for our profession's annual public-policy pilgrimage to Beacon Hill.

This is the unique annual opportunity for us to respond to invitations from our legislators and their aides to talk with them personally about the issues of significance to our practice, our profession and the communities we serve. It is a special opportunity for our legislators to be briefed by design professionals on a variety of critical planning and design issues the state legislature will be addressing in the coming months.

What are the issues?

The statute of limitations on and the statute of repose applied to public work, the proposed licensing of interior designers, the green buildings tax credit, funding of the brownfields initiative, assaults on the building code, affordable housing/smart growth/Chapter 40R and Chapter 40S, the School Building Assistance Program, appropriate development and programming for the Kennedy Greenway, and "technical corrections" related to the new construction reform statute are among the issues we addressed with significant success last year and most of these issues will be on the agenda again this year. For more details on all of these issues, write Alexandra Lee at the BSA (alee@architects.org).

We will be sending more detailed information to all architects in the state shortly...all you need to do now is mark your calendar for May 9.

Rotch finalists' work is celebrated at the BSA

For the next few months, the BSA celebrates the work of this year's finalists in the Rotch Travelling Scholarship two-stage design competition. The second-stage finalists' competition entries are on exhibit in The Architects Building gallery through April 28.

Then, from May 3 through June 16, the gallery hosts photographs taken by the Rotch Scholars of the last 10 years during their travels throughout the world.

For more information on the Rotch Travelling Scholarship and the Rotch Travelling Studio, visit rotchscholarship.org or write/call Rotch program manager Kate Miller at the BSA (kmiller@architects.org/617-951-1433x228).

SketchUp users gather

On April 4, the new BSA SketchUp Users Group gathers for the first time in what will be a monthly meeting running from 8:00 am to 9:30 am on the first Tuesday of every month at the BSA.

Conceived and chaired by Beverly architect John Rockwell AIA, the intent of this users group — as is typical of most users groups — is to share information and ideas about this exciting, affordable, 3D software available for both Macintosh and Windows platforms.

SketchUp is described as a deceptively simple and amazingly powerful tool for creating, viewing and modifying 3D ideas quickly and easily. The program was developed to combine the elegance and spontaneity of pencil-sketching with the speed and flexibility of today's digital media.

All members and nonmembers with an interest in this software are invited to join us on April 4 and all of our monthly meetings. There is no cost and the BSA provides the coffee, tea and bagels each month. With questions and suggestions, write/call Rockwell at john@rockwellarchitects.com/978-922-5225.

Memorial sculpture is focus of chapel tour

On April 25, the BSA Interfaith Forum on Religion, Art and Architecture hosts a visit to the chapel of the Discalced Carmelite Nuns in Danvers to explore "Dawning Spirits", a memorial sculpture designed by Mary McKenna & Associates.

The sculpture commemorates the foundress of the cloistered nuns and is part of a recently completed chapel renovation. The exploration of the renovation and the sculpture is discussed by Mary McKenna AIA and the nuns, who focus on the design process and the unique requirements of this sacred space.

All BSA members, non-members and friends are welcome to join us. There is no charge, but reservations are required.

To let us know you are coming, write/call the BSA at bsa@architects.org/617-951-1433x221 no later than noon on April 24. We will confirm your reservation and provide directions to the chapel.

Run like you give a damn!

Lace up your Nikes and join your colleagues on April 23 for the First Annual Architecture for Humanity Boston 5K Run/Walk to help raise funds for Architecture for Humanity projects in Pakistan, New Orleans and here in Boston.

Join us at Artesani Park in Brighton on the bank of the Charles River at noon for the start of this event. The course is a flat, fast USATF-certified and sanctioned loop around the Charles River on sidewalks, paths and grass.

There will be women's and men's prizes for the top finishers in each age category and raffle prizes as well. We are also going to try to score teams so include your firm name when you complete your entry form, which you will find online at active.com (click on 'find an event' and type in 'architecture' in the 'event name' field).

For more information on this BSA-sponsored event, e-mail me at mmchugh@vernerjohnson.com.

National 'audit' of the profession explores diversity

A recent audit of existing research and demographic data on the architecture profession has affirmed, according to the national office of the AIA, what many believed through anecdote and perception; that is, that the barriers to diversity within the architecture profession are remarkably similar to those barriers thought to be inhibiting the growth of the profession in general.

Commissioned by the AIA and conducted by the Holland & Knight Corporate Diversity Counseling Group, the audit report describes the effort as a first step in the process of "systemic, persistent, long-term efforts to diversify the profession that will require cultural transformation across the continuum of architecture education, internship, licensure/registration, practice, and professional development."

The study resulted from a resolution passed at the AIA Convention in 2004 intended to strengthen the demographic diversity of the profession. The effort was guided by the national AIA Diversity Committee led by Boston Architectural Center president and BSA board member Ted Landsmark, Assoc. AIA; the committee also included BSA deputy director Nancy Jenner.

For a copy of the summary report, go to aia.org/diversity. For more information, write/call Bridgette Waldron at bwaldron@aia.org/202-626-7484.

Looking for summer interns?

The BSA's Building Industry Classifieds now includes a category for New England design firms that are seeking paid summer interns. If you think you might be interested in high-school or college interns for the summer, visit architects.org/classifieds and click on 'post a classified' or download and fax or mail the listing form to post your listing in the BSA's online classified service.

The Building Industry Classifieds also features a resume bank with a category specifically for those individuals seeking paid summer experiences in New England design firms.

We have a job for you

The 2006 edition of the BSA's popular Project Handbook (formerly called Residential and Small Commercial Project Handbook) is now hitting the streets (and the internet). This special publication is a decade-old vehicle for architects seeking to reach homeowners and small-business owners; it includes not only a listing of AIA members in Massachusetts who do residential and small commercial project work but also includes a guide that illuminates the value of working with an architects and explains how to do that.

The Handbook is published in hardcopy and also as a searchable directory on the BSA's website (architects.org/project_handbook). Prospective clients can find architects by name, keyword or contact information (such as city or zipcode).

For free hardcopies of this marketing tool and guide, write/call the BSA at bsa@architects.org/617-951-1433x221.

Are you an AIA member in Massachusetts who is interested in being included in the Handbook but missed the deadline to get printed in the 2006 Edition? Call/write me now at 617-951-1433x240/psmith@architects.org to secure a spot online.

These streets were made for walking

If you love Boston and you love design, it is time to lace up your walking shoes and lend your skills as a volunteer guide to Boston By Foot.

Thousands of residents and tourists every year learn about Boston and its architecture through Boston By Foot guided tours led by architects, architectural historians, educators, and a broad range of Bostonians in love with the city and with design. This year Boston By Foot celebrates its 30th anniversary as Boston's — and the nation's — peerless non-profit architectural walking-tour service.

Boston By Foot guides are trained in a five-part lecture series beginning on April 15 focusing on colonial Boston and in subsequent sessions on the evolution of the city through its federal (April 22), Victorian (April 29), contemporary (May 6) and even subterranean (May 13) stages.

For details on serving as a guide or simply becoming a supporter/member or learning about the BBF lecture series (or even to sign up for one of the tours between now and October), call 617-367-2345 or visit bostonbyfoot.com.

Calls for entries:

2006 design awards programs, competitions, and juried exhibits

This year the BSA administers a variety of design competitions, juried exhibits, and design awards programs including a first-time program focusing specifically on the work of sole practitioners and small firms. The full schedule of this year's programs is as follows:

- ▲ Accessible Design Awards (co-sponsored by the Massachusetts Architectural Access Board and the BSA Access Committee) — the focus is on new or renovated buildings or other facilities that are accessible for persons of all abilities; designers, clients, community groups, public agencies and anyone else in the world may submit specific access solutions located/built in Massachusetts (entry deadline is April 3)
- ▲ Interior Architecture/Interior Design (sponsored by the BSA and co-sponsored by IIDA and ASID) — New England architects and interior designers are invited to submit work they have done throughout the world and architects and interior designers throughout the world are invited to submit New England projects (entry deadline is April 21)
- ▲ Housing Design (co-sponsored by the AIA New York Chapter) — architects in New England and New York may submit housing projects throughout the world and architects throughout the world may submit New England and New York work (entry deadline is May 19)
- ▲ Campus Planning (sponsored by the BSA/SCUP Roundtable) — New England architects and planners are invited to submit college and university projects completed throughout the world and architects and planners throughout the world are invited to submit New England projects (entry deadline is June 9)
- ▲ Unbuilt Architecture — architects, architectural educators and architecture students throughout the world are invited to submit real or theoretical projects (entry deadline is June 26)
- ▲ Honor Awards for Design Excellence — the annual BSA honor awards program (co-sponsored each year by Poole Professional Ltd. and DPIC) invites submissions of projects of any type anywhere in the world designed by Massachusetts architects and also invites architects throughout the world to submit projects built in Massachusetts (entry deadline is July 6)

In addition to these design awards programs, the BSA administers annual Build Boston juried exhibits by New England architects, interior designers and landscape architects. The deadline for these juried submissions is August 1.

The calls for entries for all of these programs are on the web at architects.org/awards.

AIA New England design awards program is nigh

May 15 is the registration deadline for this year's edition of the AIA New England Design Awards Program.

This annual program recognizes and honors excellence in architectural design by all New England architects and by architects throughout the world who wish to submit projects built in New England.

Administered this year by the Rhode Island Chapter of the AIA, this awards program culminates at an awards ceremony during the AIA New England Annual Conference on September 23 in Newport.

For the call for entries, visit aianewengland.org.

Grants available to boost public design awareness

The Boston Foundation for Architecture has issued its 2006 request for applications, which is designed to elicit proposals that elevate public understanding of planning, design and construction issues. The application deadline is August 10 and applications are encouraged from schoolteachers, other public- and private-school educators, community groups, and other local and statewide institutions, organizations and individuals with an interest in design-related public education.

For application guidelines, visit bfagrants.org or write/call bfa@architects.org/617-951-1433x221.

What are we getting for our dues?

This ChapterLetter feature each month highlights one useful program/service/activity our BSA dues help underwrite.

This month we draw special attention to the new, year-long series of building science workshops. Designed by the BSA Building Enclosure Council, this workshop series is designed to aid professionals at every level at understanding the most basic and the most complex building-envelope issues. (See the announcement on p. 4.)

This is one more example of the kinds of services we help underwrite with our dues.

Do you want work? visibility?

The BSA website (architects.org) includes interactive design-firm listings. The new online listing format is an excellent resource for clients as well as for others seeking information about BSA firms. Easy to edit by firm administrators, this new online directory takes advantage of the fluid nature of internet publishing to create a resource that is constantly changing and current.

AIA firms and sole practitioners in Massachusetts are encouraged to visit their profile in the directory of 'AIA Architecture Firms in Massachusetts' (architects.org/directories) and verify that the information is up to date. The directory page also contains a PDF with directions for updating your firm's profile. If you have questions about the procedure or have misplaced your log-in information, write/call me at ajacobi@architects.org/617-951-1433x234 and I will come to the rescue.

In addition to the AIA firm directory, the new website includes a directory of Corporate Affiliate members, a directory of firms that do residential and small-commercial design, a BSA membership directory and a directory of AIA chapters.

Currents interrupted?

Recently the BSA staff has heard from several members that they are no longer getting "Currents", the BSA's weekly electronic newsletter focusing on coming events. Changes in the BSA's own electronic distribution systems may account for some of this. If you are no longer receiving "Currents", e-mail me at mruckman@architects.org and I will ensure that your service is restored.

If you are a reader who does not know what "Currents" is and would like more information or would simply like to subscribe, e-mail me at mruckman@architects.org and I will be glad to add you to the "Currents" mailing list — there is no charge and this is a service offered to all members and everyone else in the world interested in BSA programs and services and related industry events throughout the Northeast.

Do you want to lead?

The BSA Nominating Committee has prepared a slate of candidates for this year's election of new members of the BSA board of directors and new members of the BSA's four elective committees (Ethics, Honors & Awards, Membership, and Nominating). The full slate — which includes at least two candidates for each open seat — will be published in the October ballot mailed to all members.

If you are interested in running for BSA office this year and have not been nominated by the Committee, it is not too late. You may put yourself or anyone else who is eligible on the ballot by filing a simple petition with the signatures of not fewer than seven current BSA members. For details on this process, write/call Richard Fitzgerald at the BSA (rfitzgerald@architects.org/617-951-1433x232).

Pinehills is green

Two 18-hole championship golf courses designed by Rees Jones and Nicklaus Design at the Pinehills Golf Club in Plymouth challenge BSA members and nonmembers at the 19th annual BSA Golf Tournament on June 5.

The BSA tournament moved to Pinehills two years ago and it proved to be such a popular setting that we imagine we shall remain for years to come. Once again, we are offering two formats — a four-person scramble on the Nicklaus course and four-person best-ball event on the Jones course.

Registration begins at 10:00 am with chipping and driving contests. The shotgun start is at 11:15 am and tournament day includes use of the practice range, a box lunch, all golf fees and carts, and a barbecue at the end-of-the-day awards ceremony.

It is now time for players and sponsors to register; write/call Alexandra Lee at the BSA alee@architects.org/617-951-1433x225.

Tournament proceeds support BSA educational programs designed to elevate public awareness of design and construction.

Local heroes elected to AIA College of Fellows

Boston architects Jim Batchelor FAIA, Pamela Hawkes FAIA, and John Prokos FAIA, are among only 82 American architects elected this year to the national AIA College of Fellows. This most prestigious of professional honors recognizes extraordinary contributions to design, practice and/or service to the profession, the building industry, and the communities we serve.

Batchelor, president and CEO of Arrowstreet in Somerville, is a former Loeb Fellow and former member of the BSA board of directors. A graduate of Williams College, Batchelor earned his master's degrees in both planning and architecture at MIT where he has also taught at the Center for Real Estate Development. He also serves on the board of GSD's Executive Education program and is a member of the AIA's national Large-Firm Roundtable. Recently his design of the award-winning Artists for Humanity EpiCenter in South Boston earned a LEED Platinum certification.

Hawkes, a principal at Ann Beha Architects in Boston, is also a former Loeb Fellow and former member of the BSA board of directors and has served on the Massachusetts Historical Commission and the board of trustees of the U.S. Committee of the International Councils on Monuments. Also a graduate of Williams College, Hawkes earned her master's in historic preservation at Columbia and master's of architecture at the University of California/Berkeley. She is a member of the Boston Landmarks Commission and her extensive preservation and other design projects include a broad range of institutions including Boston's Symphony Hall.

Prokos, managing principal of the Gund Partnership in Cambridge, teaches and lectures on architecture widely and frequently serves on public review boards. This year he also assumes the role of national architecture commissioner for the U.S. Institute for Theater Technology. He earned his architecture degree at Cornell, where he was honored with the Robert James Eidlitz Traveling Post-Graduate Fellowship to study Mayan architecture.

All of the architects elected this year to the College of Fellows will be honored at the AIA Convention in Los Angeles in June. The BSA, AIA New England, the BAC, GSD, MIT, Northeastern, University of Massachusetts/Amherst, and Wentworth host a joint reception to honor these and other local heroes at 5:30 pm on June 10 during the festivities in Los Angeles. All are invited to join us for this informal event; there is no charge.

Do you write?

Design professionals and all other ChapterLetter readers are encouraged to propose story ideas and to propose writers/contributors (including yourself) for the coming year's issues of ArchitectureBoston. Editorial guidelines are available online at architectureboston.com. Suggestions and proposals may be e-mailed directly to ArchitectureBoston editor Elizabeth Padjen FAIA at epadjen@architects.org.

- ▲ The March/April issue focuses on "age" — the influence of age on the profession, on building and product design, universal design, related cultural and democratic influences.
- ▲ The May/June issue focuses on "ugly" — what is ugly and who says so, taste and taste-makers, visual culture, unconventional beauty, effects of ugliness.
- ▲ The July/August issue focuses on "1976" — a year in the life of a city, the Boston bicentennial year, social/cultural/economic/design issues, waterfront renaissance, Quincy Market, early preservation, busing.
- ▲ The September/October theme is "East Boston" — a case-study examination of a neighborhood facing new development pressures and opportunities.
- ▲ The November/December issue is "Winter" — the culture of winter, designing for winter, winter cities, climate and design. The story-proposal deadline is May 1.

If you have an idea that you think appropriate for any of these coming 2006 issues, e-mail Padjen now to begin the discussion — her address is epadjen@architects.org.

The e-newsletter family grows

In recent months, the BSA's family of electronic newsletters serving specific constituencies has grown to include 'Women In Design News', an e-mail broadcast that delivers the monthly low-down on the activities of the BSA Women In Design Network as well as other professional and cultural events of note.

This special newsletter joins the family of a half-dozen BSA e-newsletters that includes 'Currents', the premier weekly industry e-newsletter that includes BSA news, urban and regional design news, professional-development opportunities, events, competitions, lectures, marketing opportunities and a good deal more.

Other weekly BSA e-newsletters include the 'Job Notification' (which forwards new employment opportunities posted on the BSA's online Building Industry Classified directly to subscribers), the 'Friday Forum News' (the weekly run-down on events of note for minority architects and allied professionals), 'YPNet' (a preview of design events, competitions, art and film showings, and other cultural activities of note in the month to come) and, finally, 'eCE Resources' (a listing of coming continuing-education opportunities and helpful tips on how to record continuing-education credit with the state and the BSA/AIA).

To subscribe to any or all of these free electronic publications, visit the BSA website at architects.org and click on 'Subscribe' in the upper-left corner.

Bokov, Pendleton-Jullian, and Schreiber join BSA board of directors

Northeastern University visiting assistant professor Anya Bokov, MIT associate professor of architecture Ann Pendleton-Jullian, and University of Massachusetts/Amherst Architecture + Design program director Steve Schreiber FAIA recently were named to the BSA board of directors.

These new board members join BAC president Ted Landsmark, Assoc. AIA, Harvard GSD associate professor Marco Steinberg, and Wentworth Institute of Technology architecture department head Glenn Wiggins AIA as representatives of the six Massachusetts schools of architecture on the BSA board. The balance of the 23-member board includes architects and allies elected annually by BSA members.

For more information on these and other BSA governance issues, write/call Richard Fitzgerald at the BSA (rfitzgerald@architects.org/617-951-1433x232).

Architectural Graphic Standards, the fundamental reference for architects, builders and engineers for over 70 years, now includes an expanded series covering standards for interiors, landscape architecture, planning and urban design and also includes volumes specifically focused on architectural finishes, residential construction, and details/openings. Many of the guides are also available in CD-ROM editions and all of this is now available in the BSA online bookstore at architects.org/store. BSA members save 20% on these and all other BSA Store items. For details, visit architects.org/store (click on 'Books and Gifts' then 'Graphic Standards') or write/call BSA Store manager Andrew Baldwin at abaldwin@architects.org/617-951-1433x242 for a comprehensive order form.

The growing green design information needs of the AIA's 77,000 members have been served recently as our national AIA office signed an agreement with BuildingGreen, the publisher of Environmental Building News, that enables quick, cost-effective access to BuildingGreen's sustainable-design information resources for AIA members. The agreement also provides AIA members with a 30% discount on new and renewed individual subscriptions to BuildingGreen Suite, which includes access to the publisher's GreenSpec Directory of product listings, online access to 14 years of Environmental Building News, and related information resources. For more information, write/call Jerelyn Wilson at jerelyn@buildinggreen.com/802-257-7300x102.

Historic roads are the focus of two conferences this month — "From World Heritage to Your Heritage" on April 19–23 in Newport RI and "Preserving the Historic Road Conference" on April 27–30 in Boston. For details, visit historicroads.org.

The use of REScheck, Version 3.7, Release 1b or later is now required in Massachusetts in lieu of earlier software tools MAScheck and MECcheck, according to the Board of Building Regulations and Standards. This tool may be obtained at no cost at energycodes.gov/rescheck.

Entering the China market is the focus of an APA/U.S. Department of Commerce initiative related to the Second China International Exhibition and Forum on Urban Planning and Architecture in Beijing on May 10–12 of this year. The event draws developers, design institute officials, construction companies, and Chinese provincial planning agencies. For details, visit planning.org/apainchinal/commercedept.htm.

"The Annual Business Leaders Breakfast"

hosted by the International Interior Design Association's New England Chapter is on April 25 at the Westin Copley Boston. Freakonomics co-author Stephen Dubner is the guest speaker this year. For details visit iida.org and click on 'What's New' or call Jane Strillchuk at 617-254-8707.

Is historic preservation important to you?

For more than a decade, scores of BSA members and allies interested in historic preservation issues locally and beyond have relied on the extraordinary monthly conversations of the BSA's Historic Resources Committee. For those who are occasionally unable to make the meetings, the committee's minutes are an exceptional roundup of preservation-related issues, case studies, regulations and standards, and a good deal more. The committee meets on the second Thursday of every month at 8:00 am at the BSA and all are welcome. If you would like to be placed on the committee's mailing list to receive its minutes and other information, e-mail Kate Miller at the BSA (kmiller@architects.org).

The engineers are coming! On July 6–9, the National Society of Professional Engineers holds its annual convention in Boston. For details, e-mail Tim Johnson P.E. at johnsont@wit.edu or Susan D'Olimpio at The Engineering Center in Boston (mspe@engineers.org).

architecture2030.org is a new website designed to help combat global warming, according to California architect Ed Mazria AIA. The website offers information and resources for architects and planners as well as government officials.

FlatBlack is open!

Well over a year ago, the BSA began exploring opportunities to create a public-friendly presence on the street-floor of The Architects Building. The consensus was that a well-designed, accessible coffee café was one very real possibility. Underscoring the value of such a public amenity has been the Boston Redevelopment Authority's plans to turn Broad Street, the home of The Architects Building, into the first target of the city's "Crossroads Initiative", a city-wide effort to enliven many of the short and very long streets that cross the Rose Kennedy Greenway. The BSA's initiative to place a coffee café on the street level fit nicely into the BRA's vision.

After talking with several owners of existing coffee cafés in Boston and elsewhere, we found the perfect partners in Jeff Chatlos, David House and Jennifer House, the owners and operators of the FlatBlack Coffee Company in Dorchester Lower Mills, not far from the old Baker Chocolate factory.

The deal was struck and FlatBlack retained Grant Studio, the Boston architecture firm led by Michael Grant AIA, to design the new café space in The Architects Building.

FlatBlack principal David House, an accomplished woodworking artist, worked with the Grant Studio architects and the result is a delightful new gourmet coffee shop at the corner of Broad Street and Milk Street in downtown Boston.

The shop is accessible from the street and also from the lobby of The Architects Building for those on their way to the upper floors for BSA events and meetings. FlatBlack and the BSA are collaborating on a continuing series of art and architecture-related exhibits that extend throughout the café and into the BSA lobby.

"Flat black" is the Australian term for espresso... however, there is much more than espresso in this café. Stop in for Italian roasted coffee from Timor, long flat black (Americano), cappuccino, macchiato, lattés, a Jumpin' Roo, iced chai, hot chocolate, a Raspberry Kiss, a soy-enhanced specialty, and even Fiji water.

For more information, call FlatBlack at 617-298-1800.

The ChapterLetter

The BSA ChapterLetter is published monthly by the Boston Society of Architects, The Architects Building, 52 Broad Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02109-4301. The ChapterLetter is a service provided by AIA members in Massachusetts to the profession, the public, and everyone else with a sense of humor or an interest in 21st-century America. For subscription information, write/call kmiller@architects.org/617-951-1433x228.

Letters to the editor, suggestions, criticism, encouragement, and manifestations of the light touch are welcome. Material intended for publication must reach the BSA by noon on the deadline dates listed on page 1.

For complete submission specifications and deadlines, visit architects.org/publications (click on "ChapterLetter"). Appropriate submissions are edited and published as space, temperament, and prejudices permit.

The BSA is a non-profit, membership service organization and has been an advocate of architectural excellence and public awareness of architecture since 1867. Membership in the BSA is open to every breathing soul on the planet.
